ORGANIZATION.

The expediency of organizing now is, indeed, important to all who candidly and disinterestedly give the question the attention it merits. It is a matter well known by most people that as soon as the county is organized the railroad funds must be put on the tax list. The opposition, on their part, is beginning to tell. They have always exerted all their power and influence against us; now they do particularly by word and deed. It begins not a little with the 15,000 acres of land should be utilized for the purpose of organizing. In all probability a large portion of railroad land in this county will be exonerated thus bringing in both many people and much property. The large amount of owned land that we shall soon have should be taxed to support our schools and help to build up our own country, instead of going to the treasury of another country, as it will, if we do not organize.

The supposition that as large a proportion of our inhabitants will go back east as was the case with Sheridan county, is, indeed, false, obvious as well as preposterous. We are under much different conditions, hence the movement advances only to us. The people that have come among us have come to stay, because they are well prepared and know what to bring and bring it, and have the grit to undergo more than those who came six years ago. While there may be off years, we shall never have continued droughts as in past years, as the rainfall is fast passing westward and the prairie is being broken up so extensively that there is no occasion whatever for undertaking any apprehensions in respect of the people going back. We expect there will be some tender feet, but those who stay and rustle and push ahead will win in the end. This fact is evident.

The cardinal question at the present time should be, since the petition is so nearly finished, who will make the best offers, and best carry out our true wishes and interests. It behoves us to attend carefully to this matter, then there will be no occasion to rue any steps that may be taken.

Progress and advancement is our watch word, good schools, and right laws rightly enforced are what we advocate and strive for.

The best way to secure these is to organize the county and we shall attain it, therefore we must strenuously urge and advocate the carrying out of the same.
